Team Talk

- ✓ One man at FORGE last week asked the question: “Why do people always seem to veer to evil?” How does Genesis 3 help you answer this question? According to Genesis 3 would you say that after the Fall, people are basically good with a tendency to do evil, or are people basically evil with a tendency to do good? Why is this important for how you view people and the world? How does this affect marriage? Business? Raising kids? How does this affect a person's ability to become “right” with God?
- ✓ After a man comes to faith in Christ how does his nature change? (hint: 2 Corinthians 5:17). After conversion to Christ, are we men “basically evil with a tendency to do good or basically good with a tendency to do evil”?
- ✓ How does the Gospel's power help us live in a badly broken world until Jesus returns?
